

Sabra L. Tomb

Attorney Advisor
Headquarters Air Force Research Laboratory

Ms. Sabra L. Tomb is an attorney-advisor for Headquarters Air Force Research Laboratory (AFRL), located at Wright-Patterson Air Force Base, Ohio. As an attorney for the AFRL, Ms. Tomb provides legal support to AFRL's $5 billion science, technology, research and development enterprise, including the laboratory's nine component technology directorates and the 711th Human Performance Wing. Ms. Tomb also partners with AFRL's Functional Directorates to accelerate the Research & Development process, and provides legal support directly to the AFRL leadership.

Ms. Tomb also currently serves as the Chair of the Department of Defense Technology Transfer Professional Development Working Group and as an Executive Board Member and Midwest Regional Coordinator for the Federal Laboratory Consortium for Technology Transfer. As the Midwest Regional Coordinator, she supports the technology transfer efforts of 30 labs and 130 facilities in six states.

Prior to her current position, Ms. Tomb was a Technology Transfer Specialist in the AFRL's 711th Human Performance Wing's Office of Research and Technology Applications through the Pathways Program, and an Oak Ridge Institute for Science and Education student intern with the 711th Human Performance Wing's Institutional Review and Biosurety Office. Ms. Tomb has a Juris Doctor degree from the University of Dayton School of Law, and a Bachelor of Science in Biology from Wittenberg University.

Before her career with the Air Force, Ms. Tomb worked in the fitness and natural health industries for over ten years, and during that time, owned a natural health store for seven years. As a small-business owner, she was responsible for overseeing employees, working with vendors, running the day-to-day business operations, and creating and executing the marketing and communication plans for the business.
